The Middle States Commission on Higher Education ("Middle States") has two established means for receiving comments from students, employees, and members of the public about its member institutions: (1) complaints involving member and candidate institutions and (2) third-party comment.

Middle States expects individuals to attempt to resolve issues through the College's own published grievance procedures before submitting a complaint to the commission.

Individuals interested in submitting a written complaint or third party comment in accordance with Middle States policy should contact the commission at:
